

Sohonet Exchange has worked with the leading production studios and some amazing projects over the past 25 years (from top-secret agents to wizards and fire breathing dragons) and understand the unique challenges productions face.

We deliver a range of solutions and tools designed to help productions of every shape & size - from production studio setups to off-lot locations to shooting on location, we can support you from the minute you get the green light to when the production wraps.

Whether it's getting you set up with Internet, Wi-Fi, and phones or providing you with studio-grade tools to share or stream content to your creatives and executives worldwide, our solutions are designed to create a smoother production workflow for you and your teams.

FLEXIBLE

Solutions that adapt to your needs

Productions ramp up and down, production timelines change, and your crew can grow and shrink by the day. Having flexible workflow solutions that can change as quickly as you do is key – our solutions are designed to help productions scale and meet project demands and tight deadlines with flexible contract terms and quick turnaround, incorporating creatives on-set, at the video village, in off-lot locations and even while working from home

SECURE

Studio-grade security.

We work with the leading distribution studios to ensure that all our tools and services are studio compliant.

We also work with your production's security protocols to meet your unique requirements and can ensure you have managed firewalls and even video surveillance to give you the confidence and peace of mind to focus on your day job.

We're there whenever you need us with 25 years of production support experience

We know every production is unique in terms of its challenges, requirements and budgets. That's why our highly trained teams are on-hand 24/7/365 to build solutions that fit your changing needs. Whether you're looking to "burst" your network connection, monitor remote units in real-time, send multi-terabyte files, enable daily reviews or you just need to get the production office up and running quickly, we ensure these critical workflow changes get delivered as quickly as possible, so you can focus on other tasks.

FEATURES

Burstable Bandwidth

At the start of your production, there may only be a couple of feet on the ground, you may not even have the green light. We can start you on a small connection just to get you up and running and then as you're production grows we can 'burst' your connection to support the growing number of users on site. Likewise, when your production starts to ramp down, we can decrease your bandwidth.

Stay in control of your network

Create private internal networks for Accounts, Art, VFX, Production and Guest. Allocate each of these units varying levels of bandwidth, according to their needs. Login to The Sohonet Hub and see how much bandwidth your production or team is using. You can use this tool to determine whether you should increase/ decrease or move around bandwidth between your internal network.

Solutions to suit your scale

We offer WiFi, phones or video surveillance for any setup, on or off-lot: offices, mobile units, multiple buildings, stages, warehouses, you name it. You can create wireless logins with unique passwords (Guest Wifi, Production Wifi, Art Dept Wifi), which will be activated on all the areas you have WiFi presence – eliminating the need to login repeatedly.

Mobile connectivity on-location

Stay 'online', whether your based in a warehouse or the middle of the desert. Access the internet, line-of-sight microwave and bonded 4G/LTE and 5G mobile data services.

Keep you on & off-set crew & creatives aligned

Keep split units and off-set crew/ collaborators aligned on creative vision with our real-time review tool, ClerView Flex. Ensure consistency in the creative vision across units and enable off-set creatives to can provide instant feedback to those on-site and see the changes happen immediately, negating the need to go back and forth later down the line. For the times when schedules clash, we have partnered with Moxion to give you options to view dailies in your own time from anywhere with annotation capabilities.

Share content securely

Our browser based file transfer tool FileRunner allows you to quickly and securely transfer dailies, camera shots, Storyboards, files, previs material (and more) to your colleagues and partners worldwide without the need for server set-up or IT headaches.

Stay Connected

For sites connected to the Sohonet Media Network (SMN), you will also benefit from being connected to over 500 Media and Entertainment companies worldwide, enabling you to stay connected to your media partners or colleagues while shooting. On the 'SMN' you utilise our global fibre network to avoid the insecurities of the Internet and transfer your files, no matter how heavy they are, quickly, securely, and predictably.

OUR PRODUCTION STUDIO PARTNERS

We are proud to support over 50 production studios around the globe and additionally support 100s of 'off-lot' production locations in the US and UK. For the full list, head to our website.
